THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

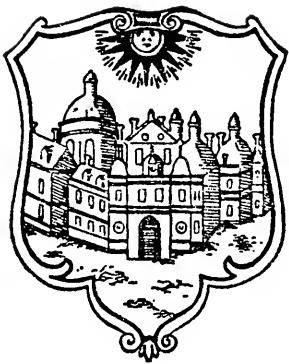

J

HE CAMPUS HAS BEEN THE SCENE OF CONTINUAL
CHANGE FOR FOUR YEARS. THIS YEAR—THE FIRST POST-WAR
YEAR—HAS BEEN MARKED BY THE EFFORTS OF THE COLLEGE
AND THE STUDENTS TO RETURN TO THE PRE-WAR STATUS. THE CAMPUS HAS AGAIN BECOME THE ONE THAT WE WILL WANT TO REMEMBER IN THE FUTURE. WE ARE GLAD TO SEE THE LARGE NUMBER OF VETERANS WHO HAVE RETURNED AND THOSE WHO ARE HERE FOR THE FIRST TIME. TO THESE MEN WHO HAVE COME FROM ALL BRANCHES OF THE SERVICE TO THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY, THIS COLONIAL ECHO IS SINCERELY DEDICATED.

DEDICATION

THE PRESIDENT

John Edwin Pomfret, president of the College of William and Mary, friend of every student from freshman to senior, sympathetic associate to his contemporaries, has been the guiding light of the college for the past five years—tumultuous years, which are already fast growing dim in our minds.

To take over the administrative responsibility of a college community is a difficult task in normal times; to assume that position during the trying days of war, a Herculean one. Yet that is exactly what Dr. Pomfret did, and with success. Tackling myriads of problems, large and small, from a sharply decreased enrollment to shortages of every description, our president came through triumphant and our college endured.

Now that a peaceful way of living has once more returned to our war-disrupted campus, we sincerely hope that Dr. Pomfret's path will become increasingly smooth and lead on to an era the brilliance of which has never before been realized.

Like shifting sands, a college community is a constantly changing thing. Each year we see the graduation of seniors and the entrance of a new freshman class. The sea of faces is never static. However, for an organization to remain there must be some permanent element, a skeleton crew, to bridge the gap from the past into the future, to preserve the traditions of the institution and to keep alive its ideals. These activities are capably carried out by the administrative department of the college.

And not only that, the various deans also serve as a tangible link between the student and the academic institution known as the College of William and Mary. Sympathetically, they are willing to help any student any time that he may feel the need of assistance in some phase of life, academic or personal.

Thus, as we forge ahead with seven-league strides, we are humbly grateful to an administration which has not only preserved something of the most precious elements of the past for us, but also for directing our paths toward a profitable future.

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

HARRY STINSON
Chairman

Among the many priorities of the College of William and Mary is its Honor System. Established in 1779, it was the first to appear in any American University or College. While the mechanics of the system have been modified somewhat, the same fundamental underlying principles that molded the code of 1779 are prevalent today. It is still, as in 1779, a rule of honorable conduct that every man, upon entering college, is expected to adopt as a part of life. The Honor System has as its essence individual responsibility. Every student, then, becomes an integral part of the system.

The Honor System is not and was never intended to be an idealistic doctrine too impractical for any man to accept. It is an attempt to achieve a state where all men can live in an atmosphere of mutual trust and honesty. By its very embodiment, the Honor System realizes the basic desire for honesty among those who pursue truth through knowledge. To all students here, the honor code offers confidence and faith in their efforts to attain and practice an honorable way of life.

This Council is actually a small part of the Honor System. Its purpose is to try violations of the code. In no way does the Council assume responsibility for the effectiveness of the system. The students themselves determine whether or not the code is upheld. Unfortunately there are some who by committing offenses against the code evidence their incompatibility with a system upheld by their fellow students. As long as these persons remain in the student body, there cannot prevail a true feeling of faith in the Honor System. Hence, the necessity for an Honor Council.

The Men's Honor Council is composed of seven men, three from the Junior and Senior classes respectively, and one from the Sophomore class. From these are elected a Chairman, Vice-Chairman and Secretary. The Senior representatives this year were Bob Jacobs, Tom Mikula, and Harry Stinson. From the Junior class, Howard Hyle, Bob Sherry, and Tut Bartzen were elected. Harrison Tyler was elected from the Sophomore class.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

PATRICIA JONES
President

The W.S.C.G.A. was organized to further self government and student responsibility in the management of our affairs. The success of the three student councils depends upon each member's assumption of responsibility and co-operation in the spirit and ideals of the organization. Our aims can be accomplished only by the efforts of the women students to keep this association worthy of their confidence. Student government exists because we believe in it and strive to maintain it at a high level of efficiency.

Upon her entrance into college, each woman automatically becomes a member of W.S.C.G.A. Its work is carried on through three councils of elected representatives; the Executive Council, the Judicial Committee, and the Honor Committee. A Faculty Advisory Committee, composed of Dr. Harrison, Dr. Adair, and Dr. Taylor, is selected by the councils and meets with the Executive and Judicial Councils to coordinate the ideas of faculty, administration, and students.

The first Monday in the month is devoted to discussing the business of W.S.C.G.A. in meetings in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. This year the meetings have been efficiently conducted by the President, Pat Jones. Speakers are introduced; new legislation started, discussed by the women and sent on through proper channels, and announcements are made. Other members of the Executive Council this year were: S. Sprague, vice-president; M. Keeney, secretary; D. Thedieck, treasurer; N. Fehse and D. Ferenbaugh, representatives-at-large; and N. Dillard, freshman representative.

After setting a precedent last year, the president will attend the Central Student Government Convention or a similar convention again this year to study the student government organizations of other colleges, both large and small, throughout the country. This is hoped to strengthen our student government by obtaining valuable ideas from other campuses, and also to pass on to them our ideas.

Orientation week in September was the first obstacle facing the Executive Council on the return to school. Though the number of women students was exceptionally small this year, the same thorough attention was given to instructing them in the policies and operation of their government.

After the success of last year, an even larger success was planned for May Day this year, including a late dance on Friday night, concerts by the choir and orchestra, and the first post-war inter-fraternity and inter-sorority sing, all reigned over by the traditional May Queen. An added tone to give lightness to the festivities was a can-can, done in the style of the football squad.

Each year the work of the council is laid aside, and the old and new officers get together for their three separate picnics in Matoaka Park, or at Yorktown. Also, in the spring a banquet is given at the Lodge for all the Student Government officers. These picnics and the banquet are memorable occasions for each member.

WOMEN STUDENTS' COOPERATIVE GOVERNMENT

The Honor System, founded here in 1779, is a priority in which we take great pride. Since its origin our Honor System has been adopted by many other colleges and universities. Upon entering the college the students are oriented to the principles of the Honor Code and pledge themselves to uphold it throughout their college lives. While it entails certain obligations, it gives equally important privileges. Every student is an integral part of the system and the successful maintenance and administration of it depends largely upon each individual's acceptance of his share of responsibility. Breaches of the Honor Code are lying, cheating, stealing, and failure to report an offense, and are punishable by dismissal from college which may be modified in certain cases.

The Honor Council tries infractions of the four offenses and gives penalties for such violations. Although the council investigates cases in so far as it is possible, it is fundamentally a trying body.

All scholastic work, whether in the classroom, the library, dormitory, or elsewhere, comes under the Honor Code. The system also applies to many other phases of student life. In reporting breaches, the student may exercise one of two alternatives; he may challenge the student accused and offer him the chance to resign from college immediately or to report himself to the Honor Council. If the accused fails to report himself, the accuser is obligated to notify the council right away. Or he may report the suspect directly to any member of the Honor Council. Anyone accused of a breach of the Honor Code is entitled to know the charges against him. If the suspect leaves college without appearing before the council for trial, the accuser must report the name of the person and the breach of honor to the President or a member of the council. The council shall then record the facts of the case and notify the President of the college that the student withdrew under suspicion of a breach of honor.

This year the Women's Honor Council, in conjunction with the Men's Council, has endeavored to initiate modified forms of the Honor System in Virginia High Schools, believing that knowledge of the Honor System before entering college is desirable. We believe that entering students who have already been oriented to the Honor Code will find the problem of adjustment to college life greatly minimized. With a firm foundation in the principles of honor they will be of greater value both to themselves and to society in general. Fran Moore was Chairman, assisted by Jo-Ann Powell, Secretary, Senior members, Nancy Easley and Betty Borenstein, Junior members, Fran Fleming and Weezie McNabb, Sophomore member Carolyn Carver.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

The Judicial Committee has as its function the interpretation of the College social rules and it has the authority to deal with any violation of these rules. Further it has the responsibility of reviewing each year all social regulations and making suggestions for changes to meet current conditions, to eliminate undue restraint, and to clarify as far as possible the meaning of the rules. If approved by the administration, the revisions made by the committee are voted upon by the students and they are embodied in the rule book for the next year. The Judicial Committee in this way attempts to see that each rule has a clear reason for existence and that the regulations are made as simple and as fair as possible.

This year we tried to change the rules when the occasion arose. For example, previously to the Richmond football game we passed a rule to the effect that "Permission may be obtained from the Assistant Dean of Women to ride in automobiles to and from football games in Richmond with persons other than parents, older friends of the family, faculty members and their wives, provided that explicit written permission has been obtained from their parents for each game."

The Judicial Committee has made definite steps to strengthen the house committees this year. At one meeting a month the presidents of the small dorms attend the regular judicial meetings.

The month of March was taken this year to devote extra time to the reviewing of the rules, however, no mass meeting was turned over to the Judicial Committee. The revisions suggested from the girls were collected in written form, and then dealt with by the committee.

Jerry Willyard was chairman of the Judicial Committee, with Helen Thomson as Secretary; Nora Spann as the Junior Member; Jean Canoles as the Sophomore Member; Jessie Wilkins as the Freshman Member; and Bonnie Wolfgram and Marilyn Graves as the Representatives-at-large. House Presidents of the large dorms, who are also members, were Jane Hogg, President of Barrett; Jane Buell, President of Chandler; Jane Segnitz, President of Jefferson. House Presidents have charge of dormitory rules and see that the dorm is generally well run. They choose their own house committees, which consist of a vice-president, treasurer, fire captain and hall proctors. House presidents conduct house meetings and preside at house committee trials. The House committees have been given power to try violation of house rules and give penalties for said violations. However, continual violators of the house rules are brought before the Judicial Committee.

The purpose of the Judicial Committee is to uphold and maintain the social rules and good conduct of the women students of the College. It is the duty of the Committee to deal with those cases reported to it and to give a penalty in proportion to the offense. When a woman student is brought before the Committee she is given a chance to give an explanation to the Committee before any decision is made.

The committee serves as a board for hearing and acting on complaints concerning staff organization. Regular meetings are held every month to check on the observing of the by-laws governing student publications, and to make and enforce rules and regulations concerning the publications.

The committee is composed of two faculty advisors, Dr. C. G. Harrison, elected by the Student Assembly; Dr. D. W. Woodbridge, elected by the Student Activities Committee; N. Easley, editor of the FLAT HAT; M. Oak, editor of the COLONIAL ECHO; J. Soloman, editor of the ROYALIST; F. E. Clark, president of the Student Body; R. Jacobs, chairman, and B. The '47 COLONIAL ECHO is here—at long last, and no doubt Margie is breathing a leisurely sigh (the first since last May) of relief. Margie, our Editor-in-Chief, worked hard to make this year's annual a success; her trip to Nashville, Tenn., this summer, to plan the layouts, was only the beginning. We all gave her plenty of headaches with our slow but sure (we insist) progress toward that final day of completion. Carroll Callis, the assistant editor, gave solace and assistance to Margie through her trials and tribulations, and the two of them have done a wonderful job.

C. Warren Smith, better known as Smitty, is responsible for those capricious Indians leaping around the pages of this book. No one dares mention ink bottles in his presence since the day he worked long tedious hours on some drawings, and a playful visitor turned over an ink bottle on his masterpieces. He probably learned a lot by

The entire Class Staff is entering the next national checkers tournament after spending this year arranging the class, faculty, fraternity, and sorority pages. Henry typed the copy as Mary and Anne proofread. This trio makes up the kibitzing team which will accompany the checkers squad—Ruth, Janet, Barbara, Nancy, Evelyn and Betty. Their diligent work this year should put them in good standing to enter and walk away with the tournament. Beckey directed and managed the team.

Early in the fall, the Organizations Staff, under Lois Willis, began its work. Its members contacted the various clubs on campus about the space each wanted in the ECHO. Those people whom you saw strolling from Wren to Phi Beta, to the Sunken Garden, with papers in hand, used flash bulbs, and the photographer nearby, were the Organization Staff—the club pictures were being taken.

With the return of the proofs, the "game" began. The "game" is identifying all of those unfamiliar souls who show up only when there is a picture to be made. The final task was pulling write-ups (similar to eye-teeth) from the clubs.

The Make-Up Staff with Audre Barthold at the helm ended its successful (?) season with a brief, we hope, visit to Eastern State "Country Club." The authorities there "invited" the staff after hearing the members mutter—"numbers . . . 63, 67, 71, 52, etc." . . . "divide by 5.5" . . . "cut some more." . . . The mutterings weren't peculiar, however, for to this staff fell the maddening (pun) job of making the write-ups fit their allotted spaces. The new inmates along with chief mumbler Barthold are Audrey Allein, Ann Norman, Tuga Wilson, Penny Allenbaugh, Jane Uhendorf, Sue Earls, Sis Schoff, Ruth Volkert, Jean Wright, Dottie Detmar, M. L. Hostetter, and Ann Cleaver.

Betty Coumbe and Ed Griffin gave their all—just ask 'em—for the ECHO. Ed tore out his hair over getting write-ups before the seasons were over and Betty got hysterical about combining last year's events with this year's.

The Business Staff, as always, resumed its role of taking money from everyone that it possibly could, especially from reluctant students. Because of this, Dennis Wine, Business Manager, feels he is the most hated person in Williamsburg. The main duties of the staff consisted of taking charge of all of the photographs, making appointments for students and professors to have their pictures taken, seeing that appointments were kept—well, at least they tried, and collecting money—just like trying to extract blood from a turnip—or better, a turnip from blood. Last, but not least, they issued the yearbook when it arrived.

For the first time in four years the staff of THE ROYALIST has attempted to resume its pre-war schedule of four issues a year. This transition from two issues a year has not been easy. At the time of this writing only two issues had gone to press, but the chance of fulfilling our obligation of four issues seems likely.

We functioned without faculty supervision as usual, although we received valuable assistance from Mr. Melville Jones and Dr. Charles Harrison. Through letters to the members of the English faculty, we managed to get 50 per cent of our contributions from their classes. The remaining contributions were obtained from members of the staff and from the student body at large. Prizes were offered as an added incentive.

As the pictures on these pages testify, the proportion of men on the staff has finally increased to the point where we now have more men than women. To keep the criticisms of manuscripts as objective as possible, the names of the authors were removed before the staff members received them. In lieu of names we used symbols. Thus, someone calling for "17P" would be looking for the seventeenth piece of prose submitted. Papers bearing the letter "V" signified that they were verse.

THE ROYALIST added several new departments this year: Badinage, for light verse; Criticisms; and Lecture Leavenings, a collection of professors' classroom remarks.

PAN - HELLENIC COUNCIL

Pan-Hellenic Council, representing the sororities on campus, is composed of two delegates from each. 1946-1947 officers were: Ellen Diggs, president; June Haller, secretary; Ginny Rassinier, treasurer; Ginger Wright, social chairman. The Council advisor is Miss Reeder; the advisory committee are: Miss Wynne-Roberts, Dr. Guy, and Dr. Harrison.

The Council compiles rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation and endeavors to cooperate with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress, maintaining high ideals of scholarship and fraternity service, friendly atmosphere among members and making sorority life desirable and pleasant.

Each year a plaque is given to the sorority whose pledge class attains the highest scholastic average.

FRATERNITY ASSOCIATION

Third Row: Zickrick, Jester, Colvin, Poplinger, Norgren, Smith, Wright, Rego, Cox, Banks, Boot, Ware.

At the beginning of the 1946-47 session, the Fraternity Association was faced with the gravest responsibility in its history. This representative organization of three to four hundred fraternity men, plus the pledges which were to be acquired during the year, has taken the initiative not only in fraternity affairs but also in campus affairs in general. It has been charged with the responsibility of keeping fraternities and the spirit of fraternity alive among the Greek letter men on the campus. This is a critical period when the "Temples of Fraternity," fraternity houses, are but a memory and the future system of fraternity housing a big question mark, not only as to what but also as to when.

In trying to add to the social life of the campus, the Association worked out an arrangement with the Lodge, whereby the fraternities took turns in sponsoring Sunday night dances for all students. It also sponsored the 1946 Homecoming Queen and presented her with a trophy.

The Fraternity Association has had a difficult assignment this year—an assignment which will carry over into the years to come. We have tried to act wisely, keeping always in mind the fact that the status of fraternities at William and Mary tomorrow depends largely upon what we do today.

Introductions and handshaking between new and old brothers made us cognizant of the fact that SAE was again open for business.

When called to order by Eminent Archon "Doc" Holloway in our new "house"—206 Marshall-Wythe, we found 37 fraters in collegio ready to aid and abett Minerva in her quest for Sig Alph supremacy. Following reorganization, nine neophytes laid their 45 on the line and made the big jump to brotherhood. Those jumping were: Lou Hoitsma, Francis McFall, Buddy Hubard, Bob Holley, Bernie Skiba, Jackie Eckstrom, John Pellack, Pat Larkin, and Danny Dallett.

Having rounded out to a stolid 46, the brethren took top honors in the Homecoming parade. To provide adequate facilities for the returning alumni, we rented a "lodge" on Griffith Avenue which sufficed—period. All in all, though, Operation Homecoming was a success, long to be remembered.

In a gridiron season filled with upsets, one team completed its season in accord with the pre-season dopster's forecasts. Yes, SAE undefeated and untied in 10 games captured the fraternity crown. Led by such stalwarts as "Slingshot" Dale Clark, "Eight-fingered" Clint Crockett, "Limp" Walt Weaver, "Silver hair" Jim Ward, and Norfolk's own Leo Maitone, the team's defense was surpassed only by their offense.

Among the student luminaries, SAE's representatives were: Junior class Vice-President, Bob Steckroth; Honor Council member, Robert Sherry; All-Southern conference football player, Jack Cloud; Varsity Show heads, "Arky" Vaughn and Bill Smith; dance band member, Brack McCasky; and All-around man, Roger Woolley.

Without our house (as Wally made everyone aware), we nevertheless carried on a successful year. At least we still had meetings.

Doc: "Let's have a little quiet."

Doc: "Let's have quiet, please."

Climbing the stairs to third floor Monroe, we thought of our old house on the hill, and lost in nostalgia, even remembered the rats with affection. But this was a good year with the beer party to get the new brothers acquainted with the old, "Chug-a-lug" Hoxie playing Tarzan in the rafters, the dance, and that hayride on the coldest night in November.

Mas, our only steady influence, presided over the most colorful collection of characters outside of Eastern State: Frank "The Eye" Shields, Joe (Think we oughta?) Chandler, of Mu Iota and the A. and T. Club, calling for beer party practice; "Benjamin Franklin" Knox, oldest pledge in K.A. (The B.F. strikes again); "Nautical" Gibbs' sea-stories behind the Theta House; "Wrong-move" Summer playing pinchy-winchy in the Kappa house; "Pegleg" Hubard, "Gluefingers" Galloway, Si (Beat 'em to death) Nelms, and "Flattop" Meavs. Also Harding (Take me out, Coach—I've had it!); "Overflow" Jones (Throw him back and get a live one!); Jake, our nominee for the highest order of the purple shaft; Boudro, lost and looking for a home; "The Brain" Stinson alternating between deep thought and insanity; Skip, the shiek of Eastern State; "Horizontal" Lucas, "Horrible Harry" Tyler on the rampage; Jim Riley's shelter parties; Jo-Jo, the dog-faced boy, (Doll), "Zipperhead" Anglum, E. (Lockbox) Harrison guarding his possessions; "Preacher" Heffner picking his way over imaginary corn rows; L. G. (who shall I date tonight?) Tyler; Corky, "The Voice" Wampler singing "Carry Me Back" after the hayride; E. Edwards and the Pulley boys (We know they're there 'cause we can hear them breathe—that's all!); "Pinch-penny" Duborg, and Truehart, Foster, and "Baldy" Riley, married and done for.

That's all! Chisholm wants to make a speech. Formal? Hoot! Hoot! Signed, sealed, and dipped in Mint Julep.

From a modest revival, in '46, with four brothers, we grew after rushing to 24. Since then the "Wheel" has been spinning fast and life has been all parties, work, and parties. The party at the shelter this summer went down in history—swimming in various and sundry attire—Merci's watch still bears testament.

The fall semester got off to a start with the return of several brothers. We tried to duplicate our summer record with another adventure in the woods but it was too cold for swimming. We were happy to learn we came out second in academic averages for the spring semester.

Ever since 1935 certain men students have been recognized as the most outstanding in their particular field of college activity. John Stewart Bryan, president of the college in that year, founded the President's Aides. He also designed a special medal, bearing the college seal, for each aide's permanent possession. A joint committee consisting of the president and the deans of the college select the new aides.

Their function is to serve as personal aides to the president in receiving and entertaining guests, and as escort to his official party at all convocations. This year the aides have resumed the sponsorship of the Homecoming and of the Final Dances.

At the Honors Convocation, the members for this year were presented by the Chief Aide, B. Macken. Old members were: A. Mason, J. Hoey, H. Rance, H. Stinson, J. Bellis, Jr., L. Tyler, H. Shaw, T. Mikula, D. Reams. New members: F. Clark, G. Jacobs, S. Rand, H. Bateman, B. Bartzen, H. Tyler, H. Hyle.

Mortar Board, the first national honor society for women, was founded in 1918 by delegates from Swarthmore College, Ohio State University, the University of Michigan, and Cornell University. The William and Mary chapter was founded in 1928.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to "provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

At the convocation in May, the new members were tapped. Members are chosen from the Junior class on a three-fold basis of service, scholarship, and leadership in campus life. They can be distinguished by their pin, a small black and gold mortar board, and by the Pi Sigma Alpha emblem worn on their academic gowns.

It assisted with the orientation program and with the President's reception. It sponsored its annual coed dance using as its theme, Autumn Nocturne. Mortar Board chartered two buses for cultural programs in Richmond. The ten students in each class having the highest scholastic averages were entertained at the annual "smarty party." The society also presents a scholarship to the sophomore woman having the highest average, provides magazines for the women's dormitories, and sponsors a tutoring bureau available to all women students.

THE WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR

M U S I C

The William and Mary Choir under the direction of Mr. Carl A. Fehr is a highly organized group striving to perfect its skill in the art of choral work. They take a leading role in the convocations, chapel services and graduations, in addition to the Christmas and the Spring concerts.

This year the choir worked up a special program for concerts given in Richmond, Norfolk, and other surrounding towns. These concerts were the ultimate goal of Mr. Fehr. He worked long and hard, calling extra rehearsals and each individual in the organization has been only too willing to cooperate with him.

The choir has sung for students of other schools, musical organizations, and has also been active in welfare work. Our chief aim now is to give even more concerts.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHORUS

M U S I C

Under the able leadership of Carl A. Fehr, the William and Mary Girls' Chorus climaxed its year's activities with the Christmas and Spring concerts. The Chorus joined with the College Chapel Choir and the Men's Glee Club for presentation of the Christmas concert, which was started with a candlelight procession by the group.

The Chorus, with a membership of over 90 girls, met every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. When not rehearsing for a performance, the Chorus learned the fundamentals of music, worked on tone perfection, and good diction. Their repertoire included all types of music.

The officers this year were: Martha Lamborn, president; Robbie Robinson, vice-president; Natalie White, secretary; Jane Beatty, treasurer, Jane Spencer and Audre Barthold, librarians.

Candy Cane Christmas Dance

The German Club under the able leadership of Carolyn Thomas, revised its whole plan of functioning this year. As the system stands now, each girl, upon paying her dues, receives a card which certifies that she is an active member of the Club. During the sale of dance tickets these cards entitle their holders to the reduced price for German Club members. This new system has greatly simplified the financial side of German Club activity.

The Club sponsored its first dance this year on December 14th. It said "Merry Christmas" with a Candy Cane Coed Dance. Tiny candy canes, along with red and white streamers, bordered the sides and arches of Blow Gym. A huge, billowy Christmas tree stood at one end of the dance floor, while an immense candy cane hung over the orchestra platform on the other. Favors for the boys were tiny red address books. The dance was semi-formal and refreshments were served during the intermission in the trophy room of the gymnasium.

Mary Louise McNabb, vice-president, made all arrangements for the decorations for the evening and was assisted by Charlotte Fletcher, secretary, and Marilyn Graves, treasurer. Mildred Renninger was in charge of the refreshments.

The German Club boasts the largest membership of any girls' club on campus. The dances are chaperoned by the administrative officials, including Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Pomfret, and Mr. Alan Stewart. Mrs. Pomfret is the club sponsor.

The German Club has been on campus for a number of years. Its purposes are to further the social life of the men at the college by giving two Coed dances a year. Girl breaks are the order of the dance and "hags" take the place of "stags" for these two evenings. The success and enthusiasm of the bi-annual dances rests upon the hard work of the decoration committee and the ingenuity of planning. Each German Club member is asked to contribute her originality and "workmanship" which adds to the success of these social functions which we hope are enjoyed by all.

Every football team in the nation showed improvement last year and William and Mary was no exception. Led by such stars as Tommy Korczowski, Tommy Thompson and Jack Cloud, the Indians took the State title with ease and finished second to North Carolina in the Southern Conference race.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 61; FORT McCLELLAN, 0

After four weeks of rigorous drills the Indians opened their season at Cary Field on September 21 against the Fort McClellan Riflemen, of Alabama. The army squad, proving to be a set-up in every sense of the word, could do virtually nothing and the home forces romped to a 61-0 decision.

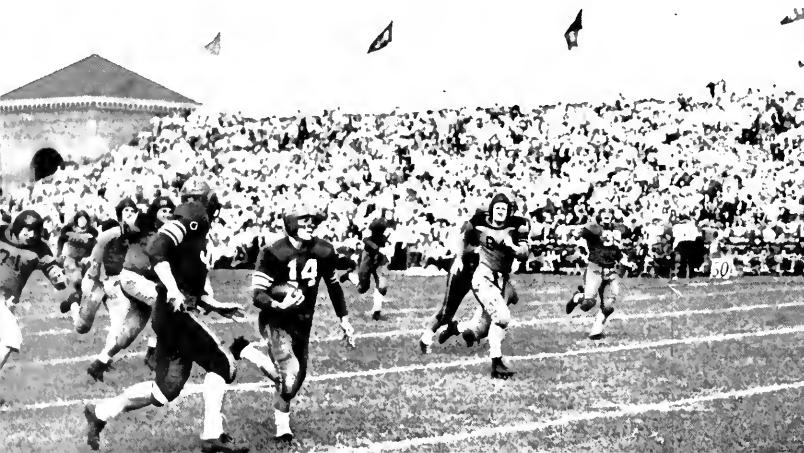

The Tribe marched 55 yards in six plays for its initial score, Chet Mackiewicz having the honor of making the year's first touchdown. From then on, the point total climbed rapidly. Jack Cloud, freshman fullback, was top man, hitting pay dirt twice. Bob Longacre turned in the longest run of the day, a 95-yard gallop which opened the second half.

MIAMI, 13; WILLIAM AND MARY, 3

Lack of any sort of pass defense proved to be the Redmen's undoing on the night of September 27 when they bowed to the University of Miami, 13-3, in the Orange Bowl.

After the opening kickoff Miami went from its own 33 to the Big Green 20 before being stopped. Tommy Korczowski then took over and went to the 35. On the next play he almost got away, scampering 45 yards before being pulled down on the enemy 20. Here, however, the attack stalled as one pass by Tommy fell incomplete and a second was intercepted by Hal Johnston on the six-yard stripe.

As the second quarter began, Dave Clark intercepted a Miami throw on the Hurricane 37. Cloud smashed through for 21 yards in two tries and the visitors had a first down on the 16. But here a penalty for backfield in motion cost five yards and two aerials by Buddy Lex were broken up.

Ed Injaychock's fumble, coming shortly after the third period started, led to the Virginians' score. After Jim McDowell recovered, they went 38 yards to the Miami nine. Three tries at the line gained just five yards before Stan Magdziak booted a placement from the 12, giving the Tri-Color three points.

This seemed to touch off the Hurricanes' offensive dynamite as Johnston threw first to Tony Yovicsin on the Indians' 22 and then to John Mell in the end zone. Minutes later, Bob McDougal went over for the final tally.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 51; THE CITADEL, 12

Three changes were made in the Tribe's starting lineup before the Citadel game at Charleston, S. C., on October 5. Jim McDowell, big freshman guard, took over for the injured Bill Sefko, who was to be sidelined for the rest of the season. Tommy Thompson was awarded the center spot and Lou Hoitsma moved to right end, replacing Marvin Graham.

Despite the revamped lineup, McCray's men lost no time in demonstrating that the Bulldogs didn't belong on the same field with them. On the second play from scrimmage Korczowski sprinted 72 yards to the Citadel three-yard stripe. Cloud then bulled his way across the goal to open the scoring.

A blocked punt by Thompson and a 13-yard run by Tom Mikula netted two more tallies in the first quarter. The Redmen continued to score with regularity, posting a 51-12 victory.

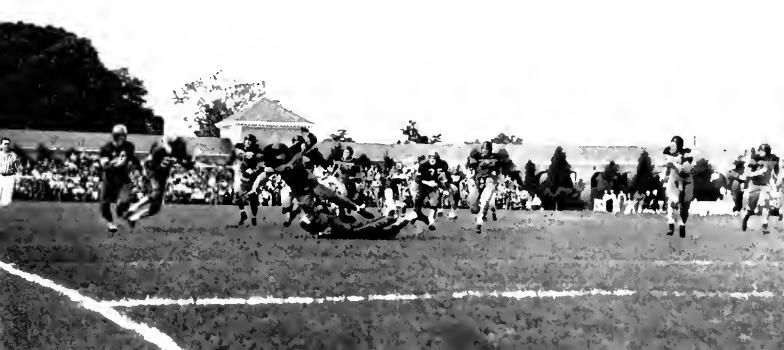

Korczowski brought the crowd to its feet again at the beginning of the second half when he returned the kickoff 75 yards to account for his team's fifth touchdown.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 49; V.P.I., 0

If there ever was a perfect football game, it was played by the Indians at Cary Field on October 12 when they trampled a battered and bewildered Virginia Tech eleven by the overwhelming score of 49-0.

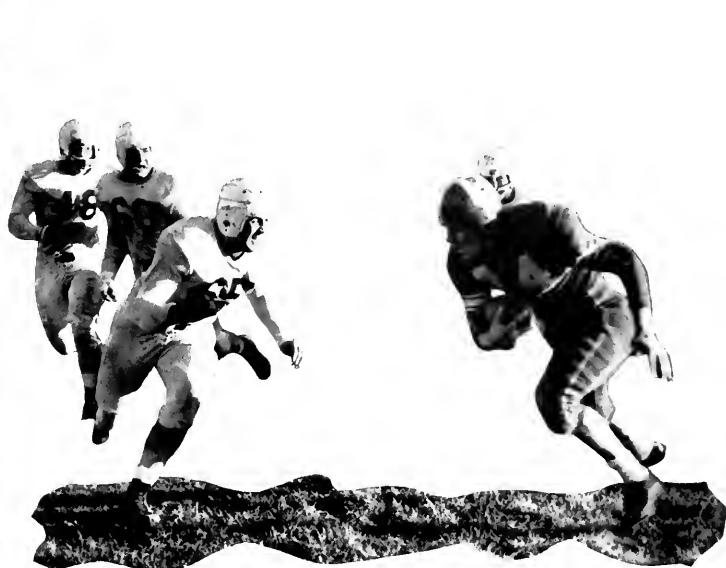

The home forces had everything on that memorable Saturday and they threw it all at their dazed opponents. The Tribe's repertoire included long spectacular runs, precision passing, crushing line play and some of the most beautiful downfield blocking ever seen on the Williamsburg reservation.

It was little Tommy Korczowski, the Redmen's will o' the wisp, who drove the first handful of nails into the Gobblers' coffin. He grabbed the kickoff on his ten-yard line and journeyed back to midfield. Then, aided by a perfect block which Jack Cloud threw on Tech's left end, Tommy took off down the right sideline for 50 yards and the initial tally. Stan Magdziak then booted the first of his seven consecutive conversions.

Korczowski about to hit the dust in Carolina game.

In a few minutes the lightning struck again. Korczowski faded back from his own 20 and pitched a ten-yard bullet pass to End Bob Steckroth who threaded his way through the V.P.I. defense for 70 yards and another score.

Tommy Thompson intercepted Dick DeShazo's pass on the W. and M. 46 and Korczowski made his final effort of the day. The diminutive speedster, as elusive as a puff of smoke, swung wide to his right, cut back in after he passed the line of scrimmage and crossed the goal line standing up. Knox Ramsey took good care of the safety man with a rolling block.

The highlight of the second period was provided by Marvin Graham. He took Walton's pass on his own two and went 93 yards to the V.P.I. five before he was caught from behind. Jack Cloud plunged over on the next play.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 34; WASHINGTON AND LEE, 18

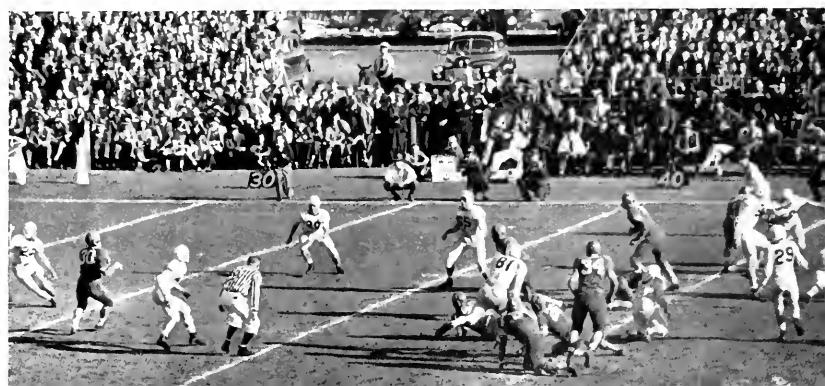

After their terrific effort against V.P.I. the Tri-Color hit a slump at Roanoke on October 19 and was held to a 34-18 win by a fighting Washington and Lee team.

The victory was a costly one, for in the first period Korczowski received an injury which was to keep him out of the V.M.I. game and hamper him throughout the season.

After the McCraymen had scored during the first four minutes on a pass from Bob Longacre to Bob Steckroth, the Generals, aided by a recovered fumble, came pounding back to the Tribe's ten.

Two rushing plays gained five yards and then Mike Boyda hammered his way to the one-yard line. Though outweighed by 30 pounds, Korczowski stopped him there. Tommy hurt his shoulder as Boyda suffered a cracked rib and both men were through for the day. Brian Bell went over on the next play to make the score 7-6.

Sparked by Jackie Freeman, who ran 82 yards for a touchdown after the ensuing kickoff, the Big Green ran up a 27-6 advantage at halftime.

Washington and Lee came out passing in the third period and pared their deficit to nine points but the lead was too much to be overcome. Knox Ramsey added the last W. and M. counter in the fourth quarter when he ran back an intercepted pass from the Generals' 33.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 41; V.M.I., 0

October 26 was Homecoming Day for William and Mary and the Indians celebrated by handing V.M.I. a 41-0 shellacking as they chalked up their fourth consecutive Southern Conference win.

It was big Stan Magdziak, the passing Pole from Passaic, N. J., who spearheaded the Tribe's attack. Stan threw three times for touchdowns and kicked four extra points.

Magdziak's first two scoring heaves, each good for 17 yards, were taken by Captain Denver Mills and Lou Hoitsma, respectively. The last, a 27-yard toss, hit Henry Blanc on the Keydets' 25 and he went the rest of the way.

Blanc was credited with another touchdown, while Jack Cloud and Dixie Walker each got one. Bob Longacre and Jackie Freeman also did yeoman duty in the backfield, as Tommy Thompson and Bob Steckroth starred in the line.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 41; MARYLAND, 7

Making their final home stand of the season a spectacular display of long runs and aerial fireworks, the Redmen ran rough-shod over Maryland on November 2, triumphing by 41-7.

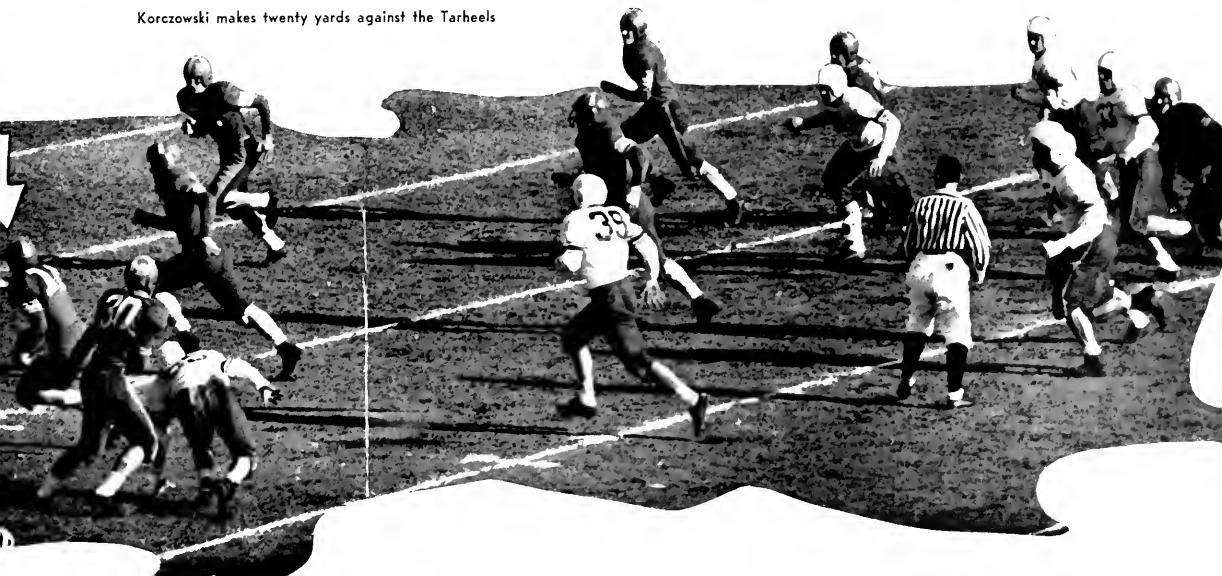

Korcowski and Magdziak shared the hurling duties, each passing for two scores. Tommy completed three throws in four attempts, while Stan got five for seven.

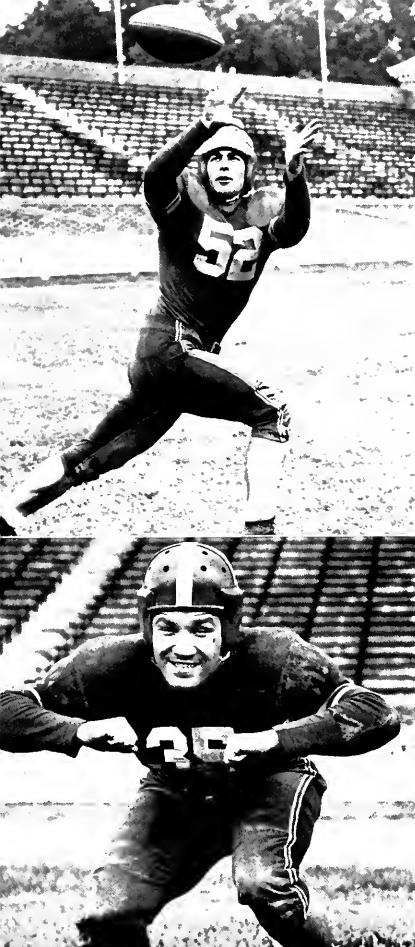

Tommy set up still another touchdown in the second period when he scampered 74 yards before being cut down from behind on the Maryland six by Vic Turyn. Four plays later Cloud scored.

The Braves' final thrust included a masterful bit of running by little Henry Blanc. Dave Clark intercepted a Turyn pass, returning it to his 34. On the next play Magdziak threw to Blanc on the Maryland 35.

The toss was a trifle short and Henry, facing back upfield as he made the catch, saw Tony Gambino, Maryland safety man, only a few yards away and coming fast. Having no time to turn, Blanc circled his foe in a clockwise direction. By the time Gambino could wheel to make the tackle, Marvin Graham, one of the Tribe's most alert flankmen, laid him low with a bruising block, enabling Henry to ramble across the goal without further difficulty.

NORTH CAROLINA, 21; WILLIAM AND MARY, 7

On November 9 the Indians went to Richmond to play their most important game of the season against the University of North Carolina.

After a scoreless first period during which play was fairly even, Carolina began to roll. Starting from their own 38, they advanced to the Redmen's 32 in five plays. Art Weiner then broke the scoring ice, taking the ball on a beautiful end around play and streaking down the right sideline to score. Bob Cox converted.

About three minutes later the Tarheels started their second touch-down march. Hosea Rodgers passed to Mike Rubish on the Tri-Color's one-yard line and Billy Myers went over.

Bob Longacre took the second-half kickoff for William and Mary, was hit on his 30 and fumbled. Carolina recovered and their running attack took them to a first down on the two. After three thrusts against the rock-ribbed green line had gained a total of one yard, Jim Camp tallied easily on a double reverse.

The Big Green finally clicked for its lone score. A 20-yard sprint by Korczowski, plus the passing and running of Magdziak, took the ball to the enemy three. Stan crossed the last white line on the next play. He then booted the extra point to make the count 21-7 and wind up the scoring.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 20; GEORGE WASHINGTON, 0

The battered and bruised Braves, still weary from their drubbing of the previous week, made a poor showing against an impotent George Washington eleven on November 16, winning by 20-0 in Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Bob Longacre got the show off to a flying start by returning the opening kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown but the rest of the half was comparatively colorless.

The Tribe managed to push across single tallies in the third and fourth quarters, following drives of 39 and 48 yards, respectively. Jack Cloud plunged over to claim each of these marches.

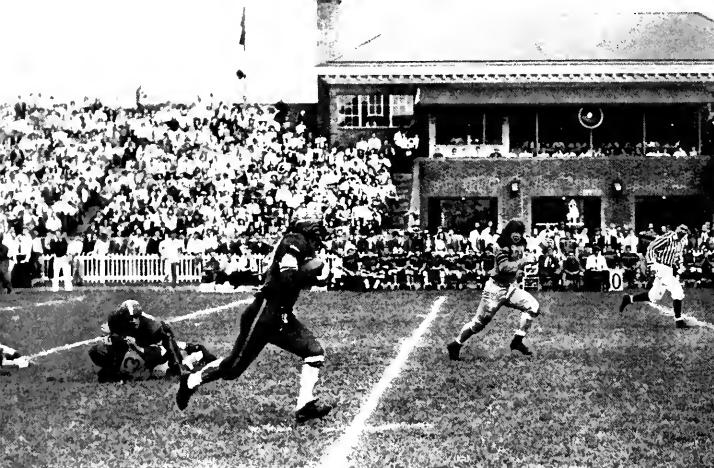

The sturdy freshman fullback was used as a human battering ram all afternoon and he responded nobly, gaining 152 yards in 32 attempts.

Still trailed by the injury jinx, William and Mary lost the services of their All-Southern lineman, Knox Ramsey, who broke a bone in his left arm. The mishap put an end to his gridiron activities for the season.

WILLIAM AND MARY, 40; RICHMOND, 0

Putting the finishing touches to the 1946 season, the Redmen drubbed the Richmond Spiders, 40-0, in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day. By virtue of this triumph, the Braves captured the State title and assured themselves of a second-place finish in the Southern Conference struggle.

Once again it was the passing artistry of Stan Magdziak which dominated the touchdown parade. Three of his throws were good for six points each and a fourth perfect peg was dropped in the end zone. Stan also added four extra points, thus having a hand in more than half the team's scoring.

The Tribe linemen gave one of their best performances. Paced by Bob Steckroth, Ralph Sazio, Tommy Thompson and Jim McDowell, they stopped the Spiders' T-formation attack cold. Not until the last few minutes of the game could the Red and Blue get past midfield.

William and Mary's backs had a field day, ripping their foes' line to shreds. Jack Cloud, Bob Longacre, Jackie Freeman, Henry Blanc and Herb Poplinger were outstanding. Tommy Korczowski pulled off a beautiful naked reverse around left end which gained 24 yards and set up one of the scores.

Cloud crossed the goal line twice on runs of one and 22 yards, respectively. Magdziak's payoff passes hit Steckroth, Longacre and Marvin Graham. Longacre accounted for the other tally with a five-yard plunge over right tackle.

MYTHICAL TEAMS

For some reason known only to themselves, the coaches of the Old Dominion placed only four Braves on the All-State team. Those honored were Ralph Sazio, tackle, Tommy Thompson, center, and Tommy Korczowski and Jack Cloud, backs.

Second-team laurels went to Bob Steckroth and Lou Hoitsma, ends, Knox Ramsey, guard, and Tom Mikula, back. Harry Caughron, tackle, Jim McDowell, guard, and Bob Longacre, back, gained places on the third team.

All-Southern Conference berths were awarded to the following Tribesmen: First team, Cloud and Ramsey; Second team, Steckroth and Sazio; Third team, Korczowski and Thompson.

Ramsey was chosen on the third team of the Associated Press All-American squad. Steckroth, Korczowski and Cloud received honorable mention.

STATISTICS

Statistics compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show that the Indians did quite well for themselves in several departments. They ranked eleventh in total offense, averaging 338.3 yards per game. In rushing offense the Tribe placed fourteenth with a 211.8 mark.

In total defense William and Mary ran fifteenth, allowing 181.6 yards per contest. It was in rushing defense, however, that the finest record was made. The stalwart Tri-Color line permitted an average of just 89.5 yards to each opponent. Only seven teams in the nation had lower totals.

The Braves were fifteenth in forward passing offense. They completed 77 aerials in 146 tries for a .527 percentage and averaged 126.5 yards for each game. There were 19 touchdown heaves by the Williamsburg backs. Since the Redmen participated in ten games, dropping the decimal from the above averages will give the total number of yards in each case.

William and Mary led the country in returning kickoffs, chalking up a total of 665 yards in 21 tries for a 31.7 mark. More than half of this sum was the work of Bob Longacre, who ran back nine kicks for 375 yards, making himself the nation's second best in this field.

The alert Tribesmen ranked third in the runback of intercepted passes. Their 444 yards gained in this way was topped only by Texas and Hardin-Simmons.

When Dick Gallagher took over as head basketball coach last fall, he had to start at the bottom and build an almost completely new squad. Stan Magdziak, All-State forward, and Bob Holley, second-string center, were the only men to return from the 1945-46 outfit.

There was a great deal of new material, however. Johnny Jorgensen, who played at DePaul with the great George Mikau, was said to be one of the best forwards ever to come to W. and M. Charlie Teach was rated as a good running mate for Jorgensen.

The guard candidates included Charlie Sokol, who made All-Southern at South Carolina, and Johnny Green. Chet Giermak, 6-foot 4-inch center, was expected to take care of the pivot duties.

This quintet started the opening game against Langley Field on December 7 at the Fliers' gym, winning a 66-34 decision. Jorgensen gave promises of things to come by dropping in 20 points. Magdziak and Sokol collected 11 and 10, respectively.

Jorgensen led the Indians to their second triumph, getting 24 markers as Gallagher's men drubbed Camp Lee, 66-44, in Blow Gym. Johnny was aided by Giermak and Teach, the former accounting for 13 points and the latter making 10.

In their last home appearance before Christmas, the Tribe staved off a last-minute rally and managed to eke out a victory over American University, 48-44.

On December 18 the Redmen began a disastrous road trip during which they dropped four games in four days. After holding Navy down fairly well in the first half, they fell behind in the second and lost, 50-36.

The Braves fared even worse when they met Penn and Seton Hall. After absorbing a 73-46 shellacking at the hands of the Quakers, they were trampled by the Pirates, 65-33.

The fourth contest was the closest of the series. William and Mary gave King's Point a tough fight until the last few minutes, losing by just five points, 50-45.

On January 4 the Indians faced Wake Forest at Norfolk in their initial Southern Conference battle and lost their fifth consecutive contest by a 40-33 count.

Then came three wins over State opponents. Despite the fact that Jorgenson, their recently-elected captain, was in the infirmary, the Tribe trounced the Virginia Cavaliers by 59-40. Giermack served notice of his continuing improvement by slipping 19 points through the hoop.

In a hard-fought encounter in Richmond William and Mary tripped the Spiders, 47-45, and followed this by a 68-32 rout of an outclassed Roanoke College five.

Virginia turned the tables in Charlottesville during the following week, winning by 52-46. In the last game before exams the Redmen played host to Richmond, losing 40-34.

Dick Hungerford, who transferred to William and Mary at the beginning of last summer, had been in residence the required year and was eligible to play when the second semester began. He aided Gallagher's squad in evening their Conference record at two and two, as they defeated V.P.I., 51-40. His presence, however, could not balance the terrific loss which the Indians suffered when Jorgenson was sidelined for the rest of the season. Johnny had been hurt in the Richmond game when he collided with Captain Louis Miller, of the Spiders. Examination showed that the injury was a broken left hip bone and that Jorgensen was through with basketball for the year.

In the six-day period from February 3-8, William and Mary split four games. They lost to Duke, 69-45, and to N. C. State, 45-33. Then they won two, tripping Hampden-Sydney, 46-40, and rallying to defeat George Washington, 37-32.

As this material goes to the printers, the Redmen have won 10 and lost 9. They have a record of three victories against four defeats in Conference competition. There are six league battles left and they will determine whether or not the Tribe gets a bid to the Conference tournament.

Posting the excellent record of 14 victories in 18 starts, W. and M.'s baseball squad won the Big Six title last year for the first time since 1941. The Indians, coached by

LANE PHILLIPS

"Frosty" Holt, combined heavy hitting and fine pitching to capture the crown.

Probably the three Tribesmen most efficient in applying the fat part of their bats to the horsehide were Captain Hooker, Korczowski and Netcher. Hooker led with a .394 average, driving in 15 runs and collecting 28 hits good for 44 bases. He fielded his first-base position faultlessly.

Korczowski was the sparkplug of the infield. He hit .317 and made some sparkling assists on sizzling grounders. He sent home 14 tallies.

Netcher paced the outfielders with a .316 mark and batted in 13 runs. The center fielder received offers from three major league clubs, the Giants, Dodgers and Senators. He signed with Washington last August and thus made himself ineligible for further collegiate competition.

Bernhard led the hurlers with 4 wins against no losses and boasted an earned run average of 1.75. Magdziak, also undefeated, got 3 decisions. Stewart, after a superb beginning, developed a sore arm and wound up with a 3 and 2 record, the same as that of Bob Gill. Jim had an E.R.A. of 1.17, excellent in anybody's league.

Probably the best-pitched game of the season was Stewart's three-hit, 5-0, shutout over the Richmond Spiders. He fanned 5 while issuing just one pass. Jim, in one of the closest battles of the year, beat Randolph-Macon, 2-1, giving five safeties and striking out seven. Both Tribe runs scored on a sharp single to left by Netcher.

In winning the title, the Redmen had a Big Six mark of four and two. They took V.P.I. into camp twice, defeated Richmond, split two tussles with Virginia and bowed to Washington and Lee.

Netcher and Korczowski landed All-State berths, while Hooker and Gill were named to the second team.

TENNIS

William and Mary's terrific tennis team posted the finest record in Indian sports history last spring as they marched through a perfect season, going undefeated in 17 matches.

Led by Gardner Larned and Bernard (Tut) Barten, each of whom took all his singles engagements without the loss of a set, the Tribe ran its victory string, begun in 1945, to 28 straight.

In their 17 tilts, each of which included six singles and three doubles engagements, the Redmen won the staggering total of 144 matches while losing only nine. They racked up ten shutouts and took five 8-1 decisions. The Braves trampled all State foes easily and trimmed the best that the Southern Conference had to offer.

Larned was the mainspring of the outfit, being always able to defeat the top man of the opposition. The powerful Chicagoan, who rarely had to win more than six games in any set, triumphed over such men as Charles Oliver, of Army, Mark Brown, Miami's ace, and Harold Maas, of North Carolina.

Gardie, who ranks thirteenth in the United States and was runner-up to Bob Falkenburg for the national Inter-collegiate championship, saw action in 14 matches.

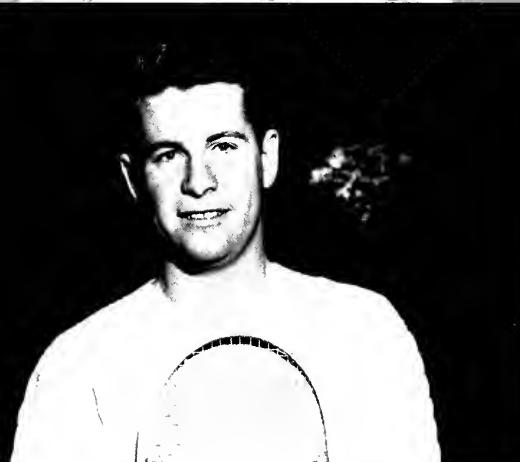

Right behind Larned came Barten, who also hung up a brilliant string of victories. William and Mary's competitors were in the same spot as the unfortunate pitchers who had to face the Yankees of yesteryear. After they were hammered by Babe Ruth they had to endure the same thing at the hands of Lou Gehrig.

Tut was hampered for the greater part of the season by a sprained ankle which he suffered on April 15 during practice. He had to miss the Carolina match and was unable to play again until the Tribe met Navy 12 days later. Despite this handicap, the little Texan met 12 opponents whom he whipped so decisively that he lost just 13 games in the 12 matches. Four of the men who faced him went down 6-0, 6-0.

Tut, who hails from San Angelo, was twice runner-up for the national Junior crown, bowing to Falkenburg in 1944 and to Herbie Flam in '45.

Bren Macken, who held down the No. 3 position, had the distinction of being the only member of the squad who was undefeated in both singles and doubles. He came out on top in 15 engagements and teamed with his brother, Jim, to take 13 doubles tilts.

The Mackens, who make their home in Montreal, combined last summer to capture the Canadian doubles title.

FRED KOVALESKI

Bren lost just three sets during last season and the brother act dropped only one in doubles.

Bob Galloway, of Due West, S. C., was the sole Indian to see action in every contest. The tall blond netter swept through to 17 victories with the loss of just one set and teamed with Bobby Doll to take 14 doubles wins in 15 starts.

Doll, a resident of Tampa, Fla., won 14 out of 16 matches in the No. 5 spot. Bobby is bothered at times by attacks of asthma which proved to be factors in his two setbacks.

Jim Macken had 13 victories against only one loss. His lone defeat came in the North Carolina match.

Captain Bert Rance, of Chicago, and George (Rollo) Miller, of San Angelo, rounded out the eight-man squad. Rollo was unbeaten in his six outings while Bert took seven and dropped one.

Dr. Sharvy Umbeck's squad had no trouble with any team except North Carolina. With Bartzen on the sidelines and most of the matches being close, the outcome appeared uncertain for a time. The Braves called on all their skill, however, and walked off the courts with a 7-2 triumph.

The Northern opponents and the University of Miami, who were supposed to furnish the most trouble, had no chance against the powerful Indian machine. William and Mary whitewashed Army, Penn, Swarthmore and King's Point and posted 8-1 decisions over Navy, Princeton and Miami.

But it was Brown and Charles Lundgren, of Miami, who handed Larned and Bartzen the first defeat of their collegiate careers. After dividing the first two sets with the visitors, Gardie and Tut trailed, 5-2, in the third. They pulled up to 5-4 and fought off several match points before they lost the deciding game.

Larned, Bartzen and the Mackens formed the team that competed in the National Intercollegiates at Evanston, Ill. The Braves were runners-up for the title, gaining six points to Southern California's nine. Gardie went down before Bob Falkenburg in the singles final and he and Tut bowed to Bob and his brother, Tom, in the doubles after a blistering five-set struggle.

Fred Kovaleski, No. 21 in the national rankings, Billy Smith and Howe Atwater are among the newcomers. As THE COLONIAL ECHO goes to press, prospects for another successful season look bright.

Under the capable direction of Howard Smith, participation in men's intramurals has shown a large increase and the number of contestants probably equals that of the peak years of 1941 and '42.

As THE COLONIAL ECHO goes to press, three events have been held. Eleven fraternity teams and eight dormitory and independent squads were entered in the two touch football leagues. Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the fraternity league title and then bowed to the Smart Boys, 13-12, in the championship playoff.

Jack Netcher took top honors in the free throw contest, sinking 46 out of 50 attempts. Bad weather hampered the tennis tournament which began in the Fall, and the finals, between George Gondelman and Dave Ballard were postponed until Spring.

The activities slated for the second semester include basketball, handball, ping-pong and softball. A swimming meet was scheduled for April and was to be followed by the annual track meet.

I N T R A M U R A L S

W O M E N

Chi Omega and Jefferson started the '46 intramural campaign off with a bang by copping their respective league basketball championships.

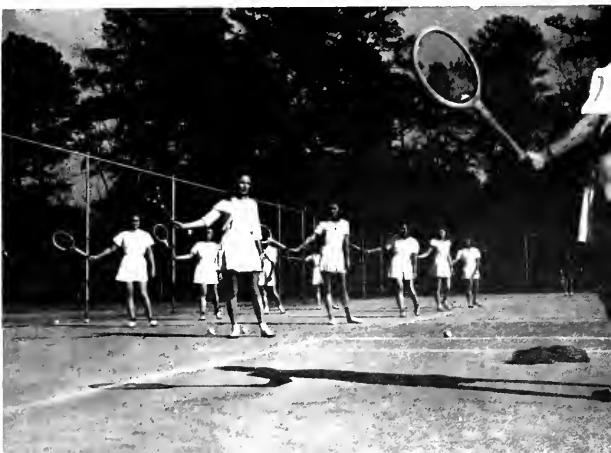

In the heated finale Chi O ousted Pi Phi by a small margin and Jefferson defeated Chandler for the title.

Badminton and softball were next. Chandler won both titles in dormitory competition while Alpha Chi was victorious in badminton and Chi Omega proved proficient on the diamond.

Archery rang down the curtain on summer sports with Gamma Phi and Barrett topping the standings. On the basis of collective totals intramural championship statues were awarded to Chi Omega and Chandler for the '45-'46 season.

The autumn of '46 saw tennis and hockey in the headlines. Kappa and Jefferson took the honors in the former sport.

Dot Baitzell and Betty Littlefield led the Theta team to the Swimming championship and Barrett ran off with the dormitory races. Kappa Delta dropped only one match out of twelve in capturing the ping pong title and Jefferson retaliated in same. Gamma Phi and Chandler won the bridge tournament.

Second row: Kern, Woods, Allan, Murphy, Henry, Sloan, Hogg, Littlefield, Smith, Hockstrasser.

CO-ED HOCKEY

Playing without last year's Levering and Lawson the varsity hockey team did not approximate the '45 record.

The squaws opened the season against the Richmond Hockey Club and were set back, 5-2, and also lost successive games to Beaver, 4-1, Temple, 10-0, Westhampton, 4-0, and Sweetbriar, 2-0.

Coach Barksdale's charges showed the most fire in the Virginia State tournament where they held Sweetbriar to two goals while playing without their star forward, Betty Littlefield. As a result of the tournament Jane Beatty, Harriet Hockstrasser and Jane Ann Hogg, were placed on the Virginia reserve team which competed in the Southeast tournament.

Grace Kern held down the goalie position and showed improvement as the season wore on. Alice Sloan alternated at this post and a forward line position. Ann Calahan, left fullback, Natalie Allen, left inner, Alice Woods, left wing, and Jane Ann Hogg, center, played a steady game in their respective positions.

Undoubtedly the strong side of the team was the right half of the forward line and backfield. Betty Littlefield, right inner, and "Tommy" Smith, right wing, gave most of the speed and attacking ability to the front wall. Backing them were Middy Henry in the fullback slot and Jane Beatty at halfback. These four together with Virginia Murphy, left halfback, and Harriet Hockstrasser, center halfback, formed the bulwark of the squad.

The opening contest with Richmond provided most of the thrills. Competing against such players as Harriet Walton, all-American hockey player, the squaws took the offensive on numerous occasions.

Two contributions to the disastrous season were the turnover in personnel and lack of qualified reserves. Of the eleven players, eight were holdovers from last year's varsity and five will graduate in June. Recruits from classes exhibiting skill and promise are expected to fill out the '47 squad.

CO-ED BASKETBALL

Co-ed intercollegiate basketball came back to William and Mary last year on a full-time scale. Playing three Virginia colleges and two northern schools, the Squaws dropped four contests and won one.

During the season the co-eds were outscored, 144 to 123; however, two forward players, Ann Vineyard and Barbara Grant poured 119 of the points through the hoop. Vineyard averaged 12 points a game while Grant earned 8 per contest.

Nine players saw activity in the roll of varsity cagers. Vineyard and Grant started in two of the forward positions and Jane Beatty and Carol Beinbrink alternated at center. Bonnie Wolfgram, Barbara Black, Nonnie Fehse, Betty Borenstein, and Harriet Hockstrasser all saw duty as guards.

William and Mary opened the season on the home court, losing to Farmville, 34-15. With the score 14-10 in favor of Farmville at halftime, Vineyard was the only player who could break up the defense as she registered two field shots and one foul shot while the visitors were pouring ten field goals through the hoop.

Sweetbriar furnished the next opposition and eked out a 26-23 win over the Squaws. The locals blew a halftime lead of 14-11 in the closing minutes of the game as Levis rang up the margin of victory for Sweetbriar.

In one of the two games played in Philadelphia the Tri-Color bowed to Beaver College, 43-31, in a free scoring contest. The combine of Vineyard and Grant accounted for 25 of the points. The following day W & M rang up its lone victory, defeating Notre Dame of Baltimore, 36-19. Ahead by only three points at the half-way mark the southerners caught fire in the second period to chalk up 22 points. Vineyard scored 14 points during the game, Grant followed with 10 and Beinbrink and Beatty each contributed six.

The Squaws closed out the season in Richmond by losing to Westhampton, 22-18, in a tight contest.

Seven tilts have been scheduled for the co-ed cagers in '47. Manhattanville, N. Y. U., and Farmville will furnish some of the tougher opposition.

First Row: DeHaven, Obitz, Gerrow, Perry, Riggins, Riddle. Second Row: Miss Barksdale, Hochstrasser, Smith, Passow, Hall, Hogg, Borenstein. Third Row: Burgess, Allen, Hawley, Menefee, Murphy, Willis.

Scoring 112.5 points against the opposition, the '45-'46 co-ed varsity swimming squad boasted three victories against no defeats.

Led by Jackie Freer, Marge Williams, and Penny Allenbaugh, the squaws initiated the season on December 7, 1945, with a 42-15 victory over the Norfolk division of William and Mary in the first of two encounters. The locals captured all first places and Norfolk was content earning points on second and third placements.

Williamsburg played host to Norfolk on March 26. The squaw reserves triumphed 41.5 to 23.5, only .5 off the score recorded by the varsity. Jane Seaton, breast stroke, Beverly Horner, freestyle, and Bonnie Green, backstroke, paced the winners.

In Philadelphia the Squaws met their stiffest competition when they opposed the Temple University squad. The Tri-Color captured a 29-28 win over the northerners in a meet punctuated with some of the fastest times set by a W. and M. swimming team.

Jane Oblender, Jackie Freer, Marty Adams, Marge Williams, Pat Arnold, Joyce Wilck, Jo Hubbell, and Jean Bevans represented the college. Freer and Williams stood out in their respective specialties, the freestyle and backstroke.

Climaxing a victorious season, the W. and M. co-eds annexed third place in the Southern region of the National telegraphic meet. Twelve swimmers took part and a number of them are back to add experience to the '47 squad.

CO-ED FENCING

Resumption of varsity fencing after a four-year lapse found William and Mary without any tournament-wise competitors.

With the emphasis on gaining experience through competition Dr. Caroline Sinclair started early in February to mold a coordinated group of fencers. Among the prospective foil wielders were Jane Ann Hogg, Janet Campbell, and Jane Seaton.

On April 26 three fencers took part in the Intercollegiate Fencing tournament at Brooklyn College. Eight colleges entered teams and Hunter College annexed the title. William and Mary came in seventh in the team standings with a one won, six loss record. Noteworthy is the fact that Hogg, Campbell, and Seaton won a total of seventeen individual bouts.

First Row: Hubbell, Campbell, Clark, Anderson, Hughes.

Faced with a schedule of five matches and two inter-collegiate tournaments, the '45 co-ed varsity tennis team turned in an excellent record. While winning four out of five team matches the squaws captured 21 individual contests and lost only four.

Under the tutelage of Coach M. Barksdale the team composed of E. Passow, P. Macken, B. Coumbe, B. Davis, M. Oak, H. Cromwell, and L. McLaughlin, opened the season April 27 with a decisive 4-0 win over Sweetbriar. All the matches were straight set affairs with the losers capturing no more than three games in any one set.

In Philadelphia the squaws suffered their only defeat, bowing to a strong Swarthmore team 4-1. W. and M. scored its lone point in the number two singles match and two other matches went to three sets.

Three shut-out wins over the University of North Carolina, 7-0, Westhampton, 3-0, and the Country Club of Virginia, 6-0, ended the court activity.

On May 1, six players competed in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate tournament at Bryn Mawr. Passow and Coumbe gained the semi-finals and quarter-finals respectively. Davis, Oak, Cromwell, and McLaughlin went out in early rounds.

Hoping to repeat their number 2 standing in the East, W. and M. sent three players to the Eastern Intercollegiates. The doubles duo of Davis and Coumbe gained the finals in the doubles where they lost to a superior Rollins team.

Prospects for an even more successful season this year are good. Several promising newcomers will be available to fill the spots left vacant by Davis and Cromwell.

ORCHESIS

Under the direction of Miss Thelma Dodson, Orchesis opened its seventh season by electing new members to the Dance Group. The two units together form the Dance Club, an organization interested in furthering the appreciation of modern dance.

Orchesis was originated by Margaret H'Doubler at the University of Wisconsin in 1917; the chapter at the College of William and Mary was founded by Grace Felker in 1940. Orchesis derives its name from the Greek meaning "the dance." In Greek plays, the Chorus interpreted the drama through dance and was an intrinsic part of the production. Modern dance retains this expressive and interpretative quality.

Orchesis offers an opportunity for work in modern dance on a higher level than can be provided for in the modern dance classes. The choreography of each dance is created by the members themselves giving them a chance to show their creative ability. These women composing Dance Group fulfill an apprenticeship before finally being accepted into Orchesis.

Christmas festivities are not without contribution of Orchesis: it shared in the Yule Log Ceremony and presented "The Juggler of Notre Dame." In the Spring it presented its annual recital.

Jo Anne Powers is president; Ruth Thistle is secretary; Peggy Ballentine is treasurer; and Anne Hirach is publicity chairman.
